The success of the WSK Super Master Series 2025

Over 1.000.000 visualizations on Instagram and on Facebook, and a total of 552 different drivers characterized the 16th edition of the championship held in 2025. The Champions are Van Walstijn (KZ2), Van Langendock (OK), Hoogendoorn (OKJ), Palacio (OK-NJ), Perico (MINI Gr.3) and Bergman (MINI U10).

Maglie (ITA), 22.03.2025

WSK Promotion has put on a highly significant start to the 2025 season, with the five rounds of the WSK Super Master Series recording a series of truly outstanding results for the start of international karting activity. A fine recognition for the 20th anniversary of the activity started in 2006 and continued with an ever-increasing interest by the most competitive worldwide, official manufacturers, international teams and drivers in growing numbers.

Over 1,000,000 views on Instagram and on Facebook.

Among the data that characterized the 5 events held on the most prestigious circuits at a European level, such as the venues of La Conca, Sarno, Lonato, Franciacorta and the renewed one of Viterbo, the figure of 1,000,050 views recorded on Instagram stands out and 1,200,000 also on Facebook, from mid-January to March 21st, the period that identifies how much the WSK Promotion channel was particularly active in the 5 rounds of the WSK Super Master Series. It is an important milestone in terms of numbers but also significant for the international following that the championship enjoys on Social Media, among other things with almost 40% composed of extra followers, i.e. more general users. In an era where people are always in contact, WSK Promotion is in fact present in the front line both on Instagram and on Facebook and YouTube, with continuous posts before, during and after all events. Gallery, updates, reels and stories: many and varied are formats to fully breathe the atmosphere of great international karting.

552 different drivers in the WSK Super Master Series.

In the 16th edition of the WSK Super Master Series of 2025, as many as 552 different drivers competed, from all over the world, with the peak of attendance in Franciacorta with 405 drivers and in Lonato with 401, where 56 nationalities were counted. The average number of drivers per race in the 5 rounds was 300. More specifically for each category, 109 different drivers competed in KZ2, 102 in MINI Gr.3, 65 in MINI U10, 106 in OK, 98 in OKJ and 72 in OK-NJ.

The 2025 Hall of Fame.

An increasingly prestigious Hall of Fame identifies the WSK Super Master Series. The 2025 championship podium of each category is reported below. In KZ2, the champion is the Dutchman Senna Van Walstijn who totaled 402 points with a victory in the Final and one in the Prefinal. The OK is sub-judice for an appeal but the championship title is firmly in the hands of the Belgian Dries Van Langendonck who reached a total of 445 points, with 5 victories in the Prefinals and 4 podiums in the Finals. In OKJ, the championship is of the Dutchman Dean Hoogendoorn who reached 436 points with 2 victories in the Finals and 3 victories in the Prefinals. In OK-NJ, the American Lucas Palacio won with 388 points, courtesy of 2 victories in the Final and 2 victories in the Prefinals. In MINI Gr.3, the Italian Niccolò Perico prevailed with 443 points, 3 victories in the Final and 2 victories in the Prefinal. In MINI U10, the American Josh Bergman won the title with 446 points and with 3 victories in the Finals.
